

FITS Practitioner Course at the Imperial War Museum, Duxford 28th and 29th March 2012 including 2 days free entrance to the museum.

Talbot Howe is delighted to offer this unique CPD opportunity for school network managers and technicians to gain the accredited FITS (Framework for ICT Technical Support) Practitioner qualification in the historic surroundings of the Imperial War Museum at Duxford.

The course is the Level 4 certificate in ICT support in Education awarded by SQA, and consists of one and a half days of classroom work and exercises followed by a 90 minute online multiple choice examination. The cost of the course is £510 plus VAT which includes a course reference manual, course materials and entrance fee for the examination, all refreshments plus free entrance on both days to the Imperial War Museum, Duxford. Not only will delegates gain a highly regarded professional qualification in ICT Support but they will also have the opportunity to visit the museum exhibits during breaks and at the end of each day.

About FITS

FITS (the Framework for ICT Technical Support) is a methodology that is specially designed for schools. It is a collection of best practice processes from IT support providers. This has resulted in a set of processes and tools for schools to use 'off the shelf'.

FITS helps you provide cost-effective technical support for your school

FITS helps you to implement a structured approach to your technical support, realise a better return on your ICT investment and have a positive impact on teaching and learning outcomes

FITS can help schools save as much as 25% of their ICT costs.
